THE REVISION OF THE OPIUM

TIENTSIN, 12th January, The Opinm Question has been coming lately very considerably to the fore. A leader in your paper some time ago sounded the note of the prononed change in the collection of the opinm revenue, and the Vicercy Li's Memorial to the Throne on the subject appeared a month and a half ago in the pages of your Chinese contem. porary the Shin Pao. The British Minister is of course auxious to put in torse the terms of the Chefor agreement. but i these cannot now be carried out as then intended some other plan mutually agreeable has to levised. The present is such a plan, but whether or not it has received the sanction of England

The Memorials of Tso and Li have not peared, nor are they likely ever to appear, in the Peking Gazette. Their contents are, however, well-known, and relate to the proposed Opium outrage. He, however, returned to Pemba at Syndicate at Hongkong and the collection of once, taking with him 100 of the Sultan's guards the duty and lekin there. The views set forth for Brigadier Mathews. That officer was then were approved, and it only remained to fix the able to set to work and the result was the disof course, could not be carried out without ra. His house was surrounded, but as he resisted the Chinese authorities to tax opium as heavily as they pleased. No doubt they were at liberty to increase the lekin, but not the duty at the ports, although the impression given forth by dhow was not French, and the Frenchmen here many was to the effect that the Chinese were entirely free and sould tax and hibit the opium trade just as they show, and used them to escape detection. The A correspondent, a merchant, and formerly in the opium trade, lately used the following language, speaking of the Viceroy's letter to the Auti-Opium Society,- That letter is as far from the truth as can bo. The whole matter lies in a nutshell, and is entirely in the hands of the Chinese Government. They can put down if they are so minded, but the .Viceroy's letter is proof they are not so minded. All the Chinese have to do is to stop the growth of the native opium in China and put an inland or lekin daty on foreign opium of 1,000 or 10,000 teels a of poor Captain Browning, whilst running chest. It is entirely in the hands of the Chinese. We claim no protection over it after it leaves the ship or hong for inland consumption. These are plain and simple and unanswerable facts. With so simple and efficacions a cure for the deadly complaint, it is simply sickening to read what is said by the Chinese and the Anti-Onium Society. If they are really in earnest, why not I believe, by swimming to her after the use this plan? Let it be put before the autho. rities and see how they like it. Their refusal to do so will try them. There is not one in ten of the officials who would willingly lose his chance of revenue-plunder out of the opium traffic. rather than that this traffic should not be continued." But even in the matter of internal barriers and lekin they have not been left quits so free as is often supposed. The British Minister's interpretation of the treaty seems to give him the right in respect of abnormal taxation and the Grand Secretary Li has any one of which, the dector of the Landon admitted this to be at least reasonable. What said, was sufficient to cause death. He predicts that in the egree to this, China, it is proposed, will stop the native growth, and will agree, some say whether the article be imported or not, to pay India the full amount each year; though the import grade-lly diminishes. This is true. Oriental liberality; extravagance which puts to-the blush all the protended liberality and Christian principle of western nations. Imagine, China for eixteen years paying the large Indian revenue from opium at the above ever-increasing rate! Could any argument for the sincerity of the Chinese and for their detestation and horror of the vice and their desire to eradicate it; be stropper? We hardly believe, however, this part of the webrene, and the report is probably not well-founded. This last Memorialist writes apparently ignorant of the proposed Opium Syndicate at Hong-kong proposed to Liby another Cantonese. In this latter memorial it is proposed to buy from India the amount of the imported drag-say 80,000 chests-to distribute it over China, and the profit on the sale to be divided between India and Chine. By sharing with India balf the profit she will be better able to bear the proposed gradual diminution and final extinction of the trade. The native opium is at the same time to be interdicted, but it does not say whether at once-at the beginning or end of the New Year -or gradually during the period, and if the latter how or in what manner and under what guarantee. One strange thing about the proposal is that if China should any year need more than arrives by virtue of the agreement for any future year, she may write to India and ask for more. This proposal seems to nullify the virtue of the other. The difficulty arises from a regard to stopping the opium cultivation; the vice of smoking remaining untouched. The idea of the Canton Guild is to purchase the 80,000 chests from India at a cost of Tis. 2 million; to pay the Chinese Government Tla. 150 per chest and to have the entire disposal of it afterwards throughout China. This looks very like an oplam "corner," or as the Chinese term it chih tuh chuang. In a late memorial from Li, the Viceroy at Pacting Fu, it would appear that he has grave doubts about the carrying out of this scheme: he writes in a depreciating tone of it, and if report speak the truth, is inclined to set it saids as a scheme fraught with danger and although plausible, yet proposed for personal

BERLIN. 7th January. An Imperial Rescript, addressed to the Prussian Ministry, strongly asserts the Imperial prerogatives : insists upon the Oath of Allegiance; and binds all official to abstain from all agitation, and to support the policy of the Government, both at the elections and otherwise.

LONDON, 7th January. Mr. Forster. Chief Secretary for Ireland, wil wait upon the Queen at Osborne to-morrow. The Government propose to check and punish the supplying of arms to Ireland.

BOMBAY, Gth January. The Zanzibar Correspondent of the Times of India writes :-"News has probably reached you by telegroph," London, in an encounter, if such it can be called, with Arch slave-dealers off Pemba. His hedy was brought down to Zanzibar and buried with Brownrigg with a party of four British sailors and an interpreter was cruising off the Pemba came in sight. Captain Browning, without wishing to cause the dhow any unnecessary trouble proceeded alongside quite anarmed, and of complying with this civil request, the men in the dhow, who had 100 slaves under their charge. suddenly attacked the small party. One of the Arabs fired at Captain Browning, who, however, managed, after a struggle, to wrench the pistol from withit on his head, killing him. He next killed auother man with his telescope, butafter a plucky saved themselves by jumping overboard and swimming to the shore. What became of the interpretor I do not know. Immediately on. receipt of the news here Mr. Holmwood, Assistant Agent, was despatched to Pemba to investigate the affair, Brigadier Mathews on behalf of the Sultana, and M. Grefulthe, representing the French Government, accompanying him. The latter went because the dhow at the time was flying French colours. After five days' absence Mr. bin Halem, was one of the owners of the alaves, seventy of whom have since been captured. The are very indignant at the use made of their flag. It appears that the owner of the vessel obtained the colours and papers belonging to a wrecked

British authorities await instructions from England before taking further steps in the matter. A private letter from a resident of Zanzibar. Captain Knipple, of the South African Marino Depot, Indus, to a friend in Bombay, gives the following additional information regarding the recent sad disaster to a Boat of H.M.S. London : -"At present it is very uncertain when the Nyanza will leave, owing to the insettled state of affairs here, caused by the deliberate murder alongside of a dhow in H.M.S. London's steam lanuch Wave. About twenty Arabs fired a volley into her without any provocation, jumped on board, killed Captain Browning and three hands, threw the others overboard for dead, and ran, foolishly (for them), into Pemba. Three men managed to regain the launch, murderers bad left, and they brought back the dead bodies of the Captain and clerk. The other bodies were lost, Captain Brownrigg, and Aers. the writer, were buried at Muazimaju, alongside Mr. Forster, the late Judge of Zanzibar. Mr. Davis and I followed, with about forty residents and 150 blue jackets and marines from the London, and also about 580 of the Sultan's soldiers. The flags of the London were balf mast for two days; ours were so for five days. ... It is with much regret that we have to record the death of Mr. W. H. Topp, recently Registrar of Shipping at this port. As yet no particulars are to hand. The P. & O. Company's Agent here received a telegram on the 27th January from their Agentat Suez annouging that Mr. Tapp had died at sea, meaning, it is presumed, in the Red Sen .- As soon as the intelligence was communicated the flag at the Consulate was laced at half-must in respect to the memory of the deceased. The community will, we have no doubt, sincorely mourn the loss of such an old well-known and public spirited resident. Mr. Tapp had a thorough knowledge of everything pertaining to his duties in connection with the shipping office of H.B.M.'s Consulate, combined with most indefatigable zeal. He was always notive in the relief of the poor and distressed and his good deeds will long be remembered .-

It needs no argument to satisfy on account of there not having been any snow, anyone with the least knowledge of the constant which also might keep the wind down. Some guests of high rank lately arrived among us; the Comte de Mailly Cholon, the Prince de the Indian Empire if there were a sudden Lisle Montreal, and the Baron Beneist Mechin, Attaché d'Ambassado of Tokio, who travelled at least an equal value in capital and labour overland from Peking through Manchuria. They employed in the opium culture and trade; speak very highly of the officials on the road; they also had good sport on their way, killing about 400 head of game. These gentlemen will soon leave us on route for St. Petersburg, trying
